Dear friend of WND,

Throughout the Trump presidency, the Democratic Party and its propaganda ministry the "mainstream media" have continually dragged Americans through one "existential crisis" after another – every one of them totally fake.

Their end-of-the world "crises" ranged from "Trump treasonously colluded with Russia to steal the 2016 election!" to "Trump's Supreme Court nominee Brett Kavanaugh is a serial gang rapist!" to "Trump must be impeached immediately because of a phone call!" to "Climate change will kill us all in 12 years – unless you turn the country over to us!"

Meanwhile, real crises – like the opioid epidemic and the flooding of America with millions of illegal aliens including tens of thousands of violent criminals – elicited zero interest from Democrats or the elite media. In fact, their pet policies promote these genuine crises.

All this has been unfolding against the backdrop of a phantasmagoric election year in which the president who restored Americans' economy, military and international respect, and who donates his salary, is demonized as a Hitlerian, xenophobic fascist – while his top presidential opponents are an always-enraged old communist and an always-lying, dimwitted, corrupt old politician who exhibits every sign of rapidly sinking into dementia.

It is into this bizarre setting that the coronavirus pandemic has descended.

Before the pandemic, America was more angrily divided than at any time since the Civil War. Yet in the face of such a formidable and fearsome enemy, many Americans hoped the nation could at last unite as it did during World War II, when people enlisted, volunteered, sacrificed, grew victory gardens, and put their differences large and small aside, all for the sake of working together to defend their countrymen.

There were even signs, for a few days anyway, that this might be happening now, with both President Trump and Vice President Pence publicly thanking Nancy Pelosi for collaborating with them late into the night on the massive relief bill.

Then reality struck.

Nothing had changed. The drooling pundits on MSNBC and CNN continued to blame Donald Trump for the pandemic while the New York Times ran the headline, "Let's Call It Trumpvirus." Joe Biden condemned the president's response to the pandemic as a "colossal" failure – while simultaneously releasing his own plan that plagiarized everything Trump was already doing.

Powerful Democratic Congressman James Clyburn let the cat out of the bag when he admitted the government's response to the coronavirus pandemic represented – and I quote – "an opportunity to restructure things to fit our vision." To that end, Democratic congressional negotiators labored to add what was called a leftwing "Disneyland ideological wish list" to the two-trillion-dollar relief bill. Alexandria Ocasio-Cortez demanded cash payments for illegal aliens, and Nancy Pelosi even tried to add abortion funding to the bill intended to help those dispossessed by the pandemic. For the left, nothing is sacred. Nothing.

Trump expressed optimism when studies showed the anti-malarial drug chloroquine might be a highly effective therapy for COVID-19 – indeed, many physicians in America who are currently treating COVID-19 patients are taking the drug themselves right now, prophylactically. Yet, the Democrat governor of Nevada outlawed chloroquine for COVID-19 in his state, even if it could save lives. Why?

If Trump is for it, the Democrats are against it. That's the rule.

As I said, for the left, nothing is sacred.

Despite the twin massive threats America faces right now – massive death from coronavirus, and a massive economic disaster rivaling the Great Depression resulting from the unprecedented business shutdown, with all the consequential problems of unemployment, depression, suicide and so on – today's Democratic leaders are unable to act normally and decently. Everything is about power. Everything. Nothing is sacred.

With the Democrats and their powerful fake news media echo chamber politicizing the pandemic for the execrable purpose of demonizing Trump so as to defeat him in November, there's never been a more important time for WorldNetDaily to be powerfully delivering the real news every day – truthfully, accurately and faithfully.

We are living in an exceedingly dangerous time – and I don't mean just from a dangerous and highly contagious virus. I also mean from the dangerous virus of leftism that has infected both the Democratic Party and the elite news media. It's very contagious.

But we've got the cure!

The cure for lies is truth. The cure for confusion, obfuscation and doubletalk is truth. The cure for hysteria, demonization and exploitation of crises "to restructure things to fit our vision" is truth.

WND has been publishing real news nonstop for almost 23 years, since long before Google, Facebook, social media – or for that matter, most of the rest of the online news media – even existed. We are experienced, professional journalists dedicated to our craft. But we are also Christians who above all honor God, America, the U.S. Constitution, liberty, and our nation's Judeo-Christian culture, which of course is the glue that holds everything good about America together. That is our anchor, the rock we stand on, and we will be here for the duration, like a lighthouse, to help illuminate the way forward for good Americans to navigate through these troubled and turbulent times.

But we need you to partner with us. I won't trouble you with all the details, and you may already know this is an extremely difficult time for news organizations, especially independent ones not propped up either by giant corporations or billionaire sugar-daddies. Yet, if you really want the truth delivered to you every day, seven days a week, as we have without missing a day since 1997, please ... SUPPORT WND.

Since you're stuck at home for the time being, how about if, instead of being glued to Netflix or binge-watching "The Office," you read WorldNetDaily ... and take a minute to make a donation of any amount. Everybody hunkered down at WND will be enormously grateful.

Friends, we can get through this – and whatever else comes our way – together. Let's help each other.

Thank you and God bless you,
