Arpaio's independent probe threatened*Support Jerome Corsi's effort to keep investigation alive*

Sheriff Joe Arpaio's Cold Case Posse is closing in on Obama's deceptions about his birth certificate, about his Selective Service registration card, about his life leading up to the White House.

The problem is everyone on Sheriff Arpaio's Cold Case Posse is volunteering their time.

With the investigation entering a critical seventh month, key volunteers on the Cold Case Posse will have to drop out unless funds can be provided to substitute for the income they need to support their families.

Dr. Jerome Corsi has agreed to devote his corporation, Constitution Consultants LLC — a company he set up to help fund his investigative research -- to be 100 percent devoted to supporting Arpaio's Cold Case Posse volunteers, so the work of investigating Obama can continue without interruption.

Because Constitution Consultants is a New Jersey limited liability corporation, all donations must be after-tax and reported by Corsi to the IRS. The advantage to contributors is that contributions can remain anonymous because federal and New Jersey tax laws do not require disclosure of individual donors, as long as all donations are reported — a condition Corsi has a history of scrupulously meeting.

From now until the election in November, Corsi has committed to apply the donations he receives in Constitution Consultants to making sure he and the Cold Case Posse can pursue Obama until the last facts about Obama's identity and his eligibility to be president are uncovered and made public.

barely disguised class warfare."

"This is one election we cannot afford to lose," says Corsi. "If Obama wins re-election, the fundamental freedoms our Founding Fathers defined under the Constitution are at risk of being lost. If Obama wins re-election, the very free enterprise system that has built the strongest middle class the world has ever known will be undermined in Saul Alinsky rhetoric of

If you want to make sure Sheriff Arpaio's Cold Case Posse of Obama's birth certificate and his eligibility to be president continue to conclusion, contribute to Constitution Consultants, so Sheriff Arpaio's law enforcement investigators can complete their vital work without interruption.

You can help launch this new, special fund by making a contribution of any amount right now – at this critical moment in history.

Read the preliminary findings of Sheriff Arpaio's Cold Case Posse investigation after six months investigating Obama's constitutional eligibility to serve as president in "A Question of Eligibility," co-authored by Jerome Corsi and Mike Zullo.

As WND reported March 1, Arpaio and his Cold Case Posse announced there is probable cause indicating the documents released by the White House last April purported to be Obama's original, long-form birth certificate and Selective Service registration card are actually forgeries. Watch the video below:

About a year ago, a book called "Where's the Birth Certificate? The Case That Barack Obama Is Not Eligible to Be President" by New York Times bestselling author Jerome Corsi was the fastest-selling new book in the country a month before its scheduled release.

On the day it hit No. 1 at Amazon, White House records indicate Obama was desperate to derail the issue of eligibility from breaking through into the mainstream media, which has been complicit in covering up all questions pertaining to the issue for four years.

What Obama did next was not unexpected by Corsi and the WND Books team that published it.

"Jerry Corsi called me a couple weeks earlier and told me his sources said the White House was going to release a fraudulent Hawaiian birth certificate before the book released to head off the success of the book and to end the burgeoning controversy," says Joseph Farah, founder and chief executive officer of WND and WND Books. "There was not much we could do about that. We were anticipating the move and planning to subject the document to intense forensic investigation."

On April 27, 2011, the White House posted the alleged long-form birth certificate on its official government website to quell the growing doubts about its existence.

"The media, partners in the crime of the cover-up of Obama's ineligibility for the presidency, quickly embraced the document without even a cursory examination," said Farah.

In addition, WND is making available other resources in this critical hour at giveaway prices:

Get the newest e-book by Jerome Corsi and Cold Case Posse lead investigator Mike Zullo, "A Question of Eligibility: A Law-Enforcement Investigation into Barack Obama's Birth Certificate and His Eligibility to be President." This is a historic work, which will be constantly updated with the latest information and findings for those who purchase the e-book for only $9.99 and get free downloads whenever there's breaking news.

While you're at it, and while supplies last, you can get a copy of the video of the same title, "A Question of Eligibility," produced by WND Videos, which lays the groundwork for the questions surrounding Obama's eligibility questions.

Support Arpaio's continuing investigation as it moves into a new phase with your financial contributions. This is an uphill fight, and Arpaio is already being attacked for diverting local law-enforcement funds to what is perceived as a national political battle. It's not true, of course. This probe has been funded by voluntary contributions from all over the country.

But the most in-depth work ever done on this topic is to be found in two books, which you can get for one low price through the WND Superstore. There's Corsi's bestselling "Where's the Birth Certificate?" – the book that actually forced Obama to release what he claims is his long-form birth certificate – and the e-book sequel, "Where's the Real Birth Certificate?"

Farah is continuing a campaign he believes was responsible for raising awareness of the eligibility issue when the media wouldn't give him the time of day – the national billboard campaign asking the question, "Where's the Real Birth Certificate?" Hundreds of billboards have been placed all over the country over the last three years, and Farah plans to continue the campaign right through Election Day. If you support this idea, your contributions are desperately needed.

Prefer to make your own statement – in your own yard? You can do that with "Where's the Real Birth Certificate?" yard signs. and "Where's the Real Birth Certificate?" bumper stickers.

Want a short and sweet "Obama Eligibility Primer" you can read, digest and help you to spread the word?

Do you know what was the first bestselling book to explore the eligibility issue in depth? It Was Aaron Klein's "Manchurian President." You can get that book, while supplies last, for just 99 cents.

One of the other early eligibility pioneers was WND's Molotov Mitchell. Get his early video work, "For the Record: I'm Not Crazy" on this subject for just $4.95.

Check out the rest of the eligibility resources available in the WND Superstore in the "Birth Certificate Department." They include postcards, special reports, bumper stickers, T-shirts and more.

Everything is marked down to bargain prices because time is short to make a difference.

And don't forget to help the two independent investigations that have kept this issue alive for four years:
